'Return of the Free China Junk', has just received early acceptance for the New Zealand International Film Festival 2015. (www.returnofthefreechinajunk.com)

The film focuses on the inspiring international effort to save a rare wooden Chinese sailing junk from a fate of firewood in northern California -- to its eventual repatriation home to Taiwan.

Robin Greenberg, Director and Producer's award-winning prequel film 'The Free China Junk' (2010) chronicled the amazing story of the sailing junk's 1955 trans-Pacific voyage from Taiwan to San Francisco. (www.thefreechinajunkfilm.com) Both films have been labor-of-love projects.

Now to complete 'Return of the Free China Junk' to the highest possible standard in time for its World Premiere in Wellington/Auckland, we've just launched a crowd-funding campaign. Here's the link for you:

Honolulu-based historian and maritime archaeologist, Dr. Hans Hans Van Tilburg is also featured in both films (<http://upf.com/book.asp?id=TILBUS07>)
