Prepping for the Patio Bay Party

An enthusiastic group of members headed down to Patio Bay last weekend in not the most perfect weather to whip, snip, mow and clip the front yard of Marg & Bert Woolcott's Bach; the destination of the CYA's annual pilgrimage for Christmas festivities.

Thanks to the team that put in the hard yards and thanks also to Tony Stevenson for the use of Whistle Blower to transport everyone and all their tools to get the job done.

News & Views

Contributions and ideas are always welcome from the membership: Our membership spans the length and breadth of New Zealand, so if you'd like to have mentioned what classic boating work or events are happening in your corner of this great country of ours, please let me know. Same goes for ideas; if you have any suggestions and/ or ideas I'd love to hear from you. admin@classicyacht.org.nz.

Lexia – 1904 8.5 m Bailey Keeler
'The 1904, Bailey (Jnr) built 8 metre gaff staysail sloop LEXIA is for sale due to owner's declining health. The boat is of carvel construction on bent frames. She is in good condition. She is fitted with a galley containing a sink and gas stove, a chemical toilet, VHF radio approx. 5 years old, echo sounder approx. 4 years old, and a 2 cylinder fresh water cooled Yanmar engine. The electrical circuit is split- house and starting with two batteries. She will sleep two persons comfortably. The keel bolts were replaced 2003. The spars are of Oregon pine and kauri, varnished. The sails are in good condition with a spare main sail. Standing rigging is of stainless steel wire. Bailey's were in competition to the Logan Brothers, who, without such competition, could not have become the premier boat builders of the time. LEXIA is the 7th oldest boat in the Auckland Classic Yacht fleet, and should be preserved for future generations.'

Ariki: 1904 Arch Logan design
LOD 54' LWL 36' Beam 10'10" Draft 7'2"
Arguably Arch Logan's finest and known for years as Auckland's Queen of the Harbour. She is now in need of a new minder. However Ariki has not been sailed in 5 yrs so in need of a great deal of TLC. But once restored she will not disappoint any competitive helmsman and crew. Chad Thompson and Tony Blake can attest to the closeness of the racing that can be expected. Any offer over $200 000 will be considered carefully by the current owner. Contact: Chad Thompson p. +64 21 995 754 or e. chad@classicyacht.co.nz
